

Crash Course

Empowering teams and individuals with a low-cost, high-return learning tool specific to their organization's Workday tenant configuration.

Quick and efficient learning

Workday is live in your organization, hypercare is over, and the implementation team has moved on to their next project. Perhaps resources have moved, or new resources have joined the team since deployment. You need a quick, efficient, cost-effective way to teach your team how to operate in your tenant.

We're here to help.

The value of an Intecrowd crash course

An Intecrowd crash course is an ideal solution when Workday Community and formal classes need to be more specific to your business and operations.

Crash courses also fill the void when a critical team or team member is new to a role or needs a refresher to stay current on new features – maximizing the value of your investment.

Business-specific training tailored to your needs

Intecrowd crash courses are different than standardized training; they're specific to your organization's Workday tenant configuration and delivered in the context of your business operations.

Our focused sessions are the key to proficiency while providing a low-cost, high-return accelerator of business value with a minimal time requirement.

Whether you need to learn the basics or deepen your existing product knowledge, we have a crash course tailored to your specific business needs
