Can Workday Serve You Even Better? Find Out Quickly!

Overview

Taking care of employees is always important. Even more so during the current crisis. As your business evolves, your Workday solution does as well. Each new release provides more functionality and technical capability. Other systems in your HR landscape also evolve. Many of your other systems consume core HR data from Workday. If you run Workday Financials, there are many downstream systems that use that data. To ensure the “health” of your HCM and Financial Landscape, it is critical to periodically review both your functional (Workday HCM and FIN) and technical (integration) suite. The COVID-19 pandemic has forced us to change the way our workforce runs business. The Workday platform enables businesses especially during in this “Work-From-Home” environment. To ensure that Workday is running as effectively as possible, Intecrowd is offering discounted Workday Functional and Technical HealthChecks✓ to assure optimal performance.

In general poor performing integrations are challenging, but with a virtual workforce this can be even more disruptive. We will review your integrations focusing on long running integrations, expiring schedules, expiring keys, etc. As with the Functional HealthCheck✓ we will make quick fixes as appropriate and provide an Analysis and Plan to address the findings.

Authorization and Security concerns may be even more amplified with a remote workforce accessing Workday from a variety of platforms. Our team will address such items as Sign-On Reports Logs, Authentications policies, SSO/Multifactor authentications, etc. Quick fixes will be applied as appropriate and we will provide an Analysis with Security recommendations and a plan to address the findings.
