

Application Managed Services (AMS)

Now that you are live with Workday, we can provide you with the right sized support and adoption services to ensure that you realize the value of Workday for your business.

The Intecrowd Difference - Driving Value

How We Support You

Cost Effective, Flexible Support

Our configurable support models reflect your needs based on your resources, Workday road-map, and budget. This right-sized support solution includes flexible contract duration, support hours, and payment terms - ranging from on-demand pay-as-you-go service to dedicated staff with complete SLAs.

Driving Value

Intecrowd believes that a Workday deployment is not a single event, but an ongoing stream of value. Each release provides new opportunities to empower your workforce and drive value from your Workday investment. Progressing along a defined path and deploying additional components can extend the value you receive considerably. Intecrowd partners with you to take advantage of each release and evaluate all purchased and available functionality.

AMS Center of Excellence

All Intecrowd clients get a dedicated Account Manager who leverages our team of experienced Workday consultants. Our AMS Center of Excellence allows us to apply the most qualified resources to identify, understand, resolve and ensure your business realizes the value of your Workday solution. We solve your issue and address your challenges with the same experienced team we use to support deployments.

Partner NOT Customer

We carefully on-board our AMS clients to ensure we understand all aspects of your deployment and business. We provide tailored reporting with a high level of transparency as we resolve your issues. From business case to business process configuration, integrations, strategic release management and more, we work closely with your team to go beyond the support paradigm of Break-Fix and truly partner to drive the value of Workday.
